

Glengormley School of Traditional Music

GSOTM is currently celebrating its 20th anniversary. Based in Edmund Rice College, Glengormley in County Antrim the school is a very successful community Arts body who received a Gradam Ceol Award for outstanding contribution to Traditional Music in 2021. The school has provided over 1,500 pupils the opportunity to learn music over the last 20 years. GSOTM provides tuition in all the traditional instruments to a diverse range of ages and abilities and the opportunity to learn traditional music in a structured, relaxed, fun and encouraging environment. We are viewed as a valuable artistic/music resource in our local community of Glengormley and North Belfast and are involved in a multitude of community events throughout the year.