

Catherine Fagan

is a flautist and singer from Curragha Co. Meath. She completed a BA in Irish and Music at NUI Maynooth, followed by an MA in Irish Traditional Performance in UL. She then completed an MA in Music Education before moving to London to teach. In Limerick and London, Catherine was involved in the session scene and since returning to Ireland, she has become involved in various musical projects with young people. Catherine has performed at various venues around Ireland and Europe as a musician and currently performs around Sligo and the west of Ireland at various festivals and events. Catherine is a full time secondary school teacher in Mercy College Sligo and also works with Music Generation Roscommon, developing vocal skills and vocal groups.